Re: Devon Diane Anderson, Interim District Attorney for Harris County, Texas;
Supplement to ethics complaint concerning criminal campaign activity.

Director Moore,

On September 5, 2014 the Texas Ethics Commission received a complaint from me that charged political candidate Devon Diane Anderson with criminally violating Title 15, Chapter 255, Section 255.006, of the Texas Election Code. With this complaint I submitted certain exhibits supporting the charge which included a website screen capture made on September 1, 2014. In this screen capture the words “Re-Elect Devon Anderson – andersonda.com” were shown from a Google search.

Ms. Anderson learned of my complaint and, four days later, changed this particular website language to read “Keep Devon Anderson – andersonda.com”. In my opinion, this sudden change in language is an admission of guilt by Ms. Anderson while simultaneously being an arrogant attempt to avoid criminal liability. The word “keep” is synonymous with the words “re-elect” and even an 8th grader with an intelligence quotient under 70 would know this nexus. I find it insulting as a citizen that Ms. Anderson is attempting to mislead the public as to her true status as a political candidate. She wants to be District Attorney, yet she cannot honor the most simple of laws. Moreover, I believe that her re-wording of this website language constitutes a new criminal offense under the Texas Election Code.

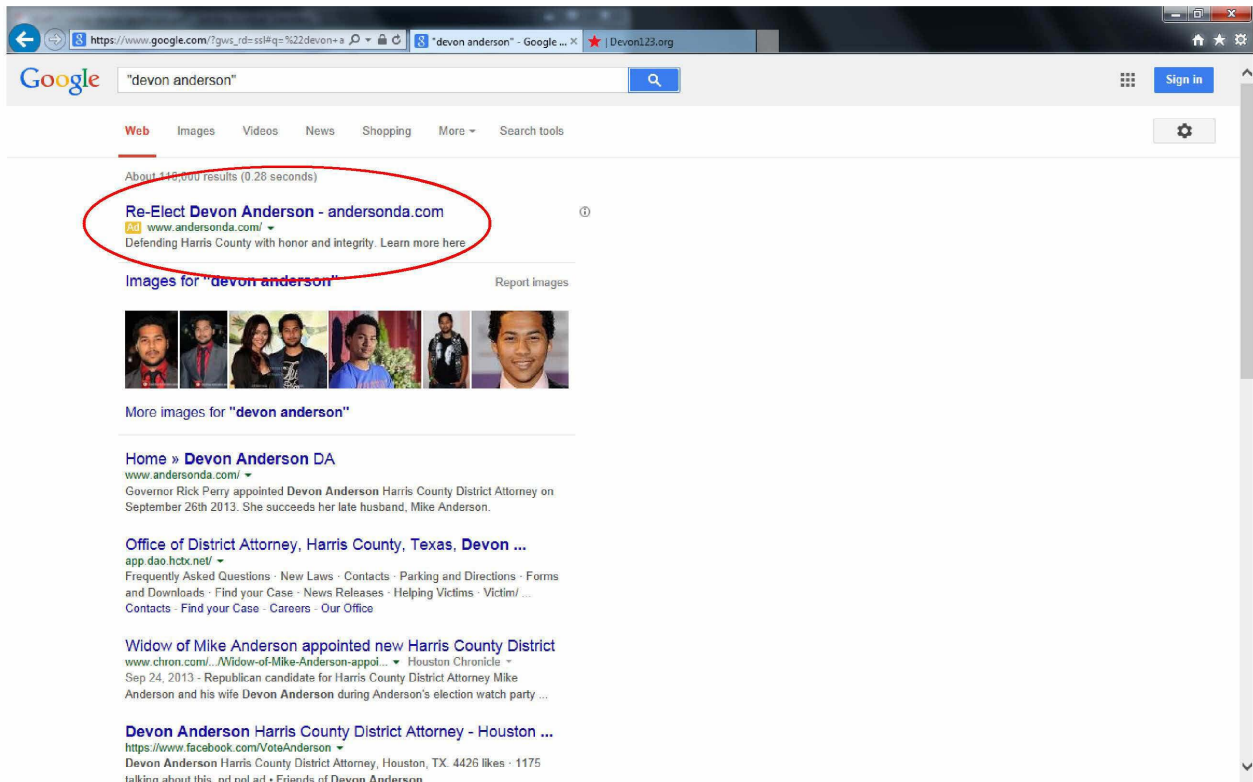

I have enclosed the comparison website screen captures and I ask that this information be supplemented to my pending complaint against Ms. Anderson. You are invited to contact me at 409-338-1661 or 281-457-9999 concerning my complaint.

Respectfully,

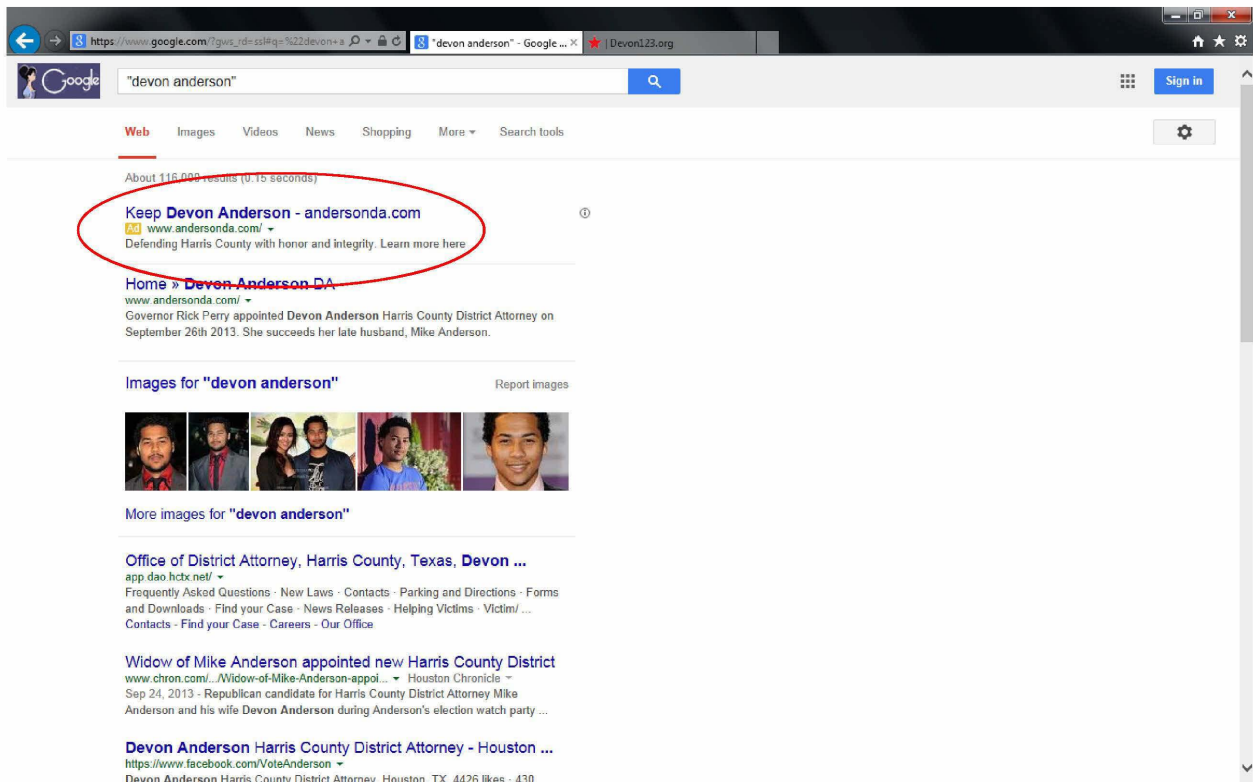

Eric L. Baumgart
